

Services to Libraries: 36th Legislative District

The Washington State Library (WSL) ensures that residents of the entire state have access to educational materials, research capabilities and resources that change lives. WSL achieves these goals in part using federal Library Services and Technology Act (LSTA) funds—which are dependent on state funding—to offer consulting services, grants, subsidies, training, and other programs that improve libraries and the lives of the patrons which they serve.

Awards & Subsidies

WSL provides funding to support local libraries through circulating STEM kits, professional development grants, digital literacy, early literacy programming, cost-sharing of online databases, and 24/7 online reference services.

Databases  Digital services
Library grants

Training Opportunities

WSL provides training opportunities for the library staff and the public including Microsoft Office training and industry-recognized certification, professional development, and specialized training for library administration.

14
sessions

113

individuals trained

Training Programs & Partners

All product and company names are registered trademarks of their respective holders and do not imply endorsement or affiliation.

Total Funding

 Statewide Library Projects
 Awards & Subsidies
 Washington Talking Book & Braille Library
 Prison & Hospital Libraries

For every $1 of state funding, the state receives approximately $1.25 in federal LSTA funding to support libraries.

$29,762 to 36th Legislative District libraries

The Washington State Library (WSL) is the only state agency that is specifically designated by law to assist local and regional libraries with library and information services. Below is just one example of how WSL has helped libraries in this district connect with their communities and improve the quality of life for its patrons.

One of the key responsibilities of the State Library is to keep our library workforce trained in the latest technologies and information. We sponsor trainings around the state, at both large and small libraries. Professional Development grants are also available to send library staff to specialized trainings. Several librarians from this district benefited from the program.

Professional Development grants are also available to send library staff to specialized trainings.

Visit www.sos.wa.gov/library
for more information

rev. Feb 2018